

CHINA'S VICE-PRESIDENT
QUITS; MONARCHY NEAR?

BEANGHAI, China, Sept. 2.—The Vice-President of the Chinese Republic, Yuan-Heng, has resigned as Vice-President of the Chinese Republic. The interpretation placed upon his act is that it is preparatory to the establishment of a monarchy, which is popularly regarded as virtually certain.

For Acid Stomachs
Use Magnesia

The almost universal use of magnesia by physicians and specialists in the treatment of stomach troubles is due to the fact that it stops "acid fermentation" and neutralizes the acid—the direct cause of nearly all stomach troubles. Of the many forms of magnesia such as bicarbonate, trisilicate, sulphate, etc., the most suitable and efficient, and the one recommended by leading specialists, is BRAND'S magnesia. A "magnesia" of which in a little warm water immediately after eating will instantly neutralize the acid, stop fermentation and thus insure perfect digestion. BRAND'S magnesia is also the only one which is not only effective, but is also, by the way, usually spoken of as a "magnesia" of which in a little warm water immediately after eating will instantly neutralize the acid, stop fermentation and thus insure perfect digestion. BRAND'S magnesia is also the only one which is not only effective, but is also, by the way, usually spoken of as a "magnesia" of which in a little warm water immediately after eating will instantly neutralize the acid, stop fermentation and thus insure perfect digestion.

"BIG BILL" WILL FIGHT AL SMITH
IN THE PRIMARIES

Turned Down by Tammany, Edwards Goes After Sheriff's Nomination Independently.

"Big Bill" Edwards, hero of Princeton College men, who was turned down by Tammany district leaders as a candidate for sheriff, announced today that he would enter the primaries in opposition to Alfred E. Smith, the organization selection, and make an independent fight for the place. "I am going to stay in the game until the whistle blows," said Edwards at his quarters in the Hotel Marie Antoinette. "To win is not impossible, but it will require a tremendous effort on the part of those who believe in an independent movement at this time. I seek the support of every voter who believes in my candidacy." At the Edwards headquarters former State Senator Walter R. Herrick took charge of the renewed effort to put "Big Bill" into office. The main effort will be a contest in the Democratic primaries to beat Smith for the nomination. Edwards also has the option of standing for election on an independent ticket.

Tammany leaders in forcing the selection of Smith as a candidate for sheriff against the wishes of Chief Murphy practically decided that the next leader of the organization will be Mr. Smith. For some time there has been speculation in the ranks as to who was the strongest coming man. The action of the leaders last night indicates the almost unanimous choice of the district leaders and points to Smith as the heir to the Weyman throne. There will be no action to force Murphy out. On the contrary, there is common consent that he can remain in power for an indefinite time, but there are many indications that the Chief is getting ready to quit of his own accord, either after this year's election or a year later, after the National and State campaigns of 1916. As for Smith himself, he is taking no part in local politics or Tammany organization affairs. All summer he has been devoting himself to helping revise the constitution along with Ethel Root, George W. Wickham and other prominent public men. Through hard work, exceptional cleverness and strong personality he has made himself easily leader of the Democrats in the convention. Since 1904 Smith has been member of Assembly from the Second District of Manhattan, which includes the east side region lying almost under the Brooklyn Bridge. His home is at No. 25 Oliver street, just around the corner out of Chatham Square, an old red brick house in Political Row. There live Mr. Smith and the four young Smiths, in the heart of the district, surrounded by tenements and foreign population, but amidst all inducements to move uptown, as so many other east side boys have done.

Monday Morning Wonders

The Light of Reason.

The Prohibition issue will not be decided by passion, prejudice or denunciation; it will be decided by reason and deliberate judgment.

Professional Prohibitionists know that it is easier to excite feeling than to awaken thought. Because of that, they do not reason or argue—they assert—they appeal to prejudice, to passion and to the unthinking mind.

Witness how empty and hollow are their assertions when applied to cold reason and actual statistics.

Prohibitionists claim that 75% of the crime in the United States is attributable to the use of alcoholic beverages. This is directly contradicted by Mr. Thomas Speed Mosby, member of the American Institute of Law and Criminology and former Pardon Attorney of Missouri, who, in a thoughtful treatise on "Alcoholism and Crime," says: "That statement is absolutely untrue of any State in the Union, nor is it true of the United States, nor of any foreign nation. Penal statistics indicate that from 20 to 50 per cent. of the inmates of American State prisons have been addicted in some degree to the use of alcoholic beverages, but in all my professional reading and official experience I have never learned of any penitentiary containing a total inebriate population of as much as 20 per cent."

The Illogical Prohibitionist.

Smooth-tongued Prohibitionists declare that our penitentiaries house many victims of intemperance. If this is an argument FOR Prohibition, we might say that a greater percentage of prisoners are men of temperate habits and present that as an argument AGAINST Prohibition. For it is just as rational to attack the Prohibitionists because a sober man commits a crime as it is to attack the custom of drinking because an inebriate commits a similar crime.

The illogical "dry" advocate continually associates drink and crime in a misleading maze, yet how few notorious criminals have been known to be drunkards. These "crime statisticians" forget that millions of men have used alcoholic beverages in moderation without the slightest taint of criminality being developed in them or their posterity. But most notorious crooks have led abstemious lives!

Reason will have you decide only one way.

Reason will lead to another thought—attempt to deprive a person of one thing, and you cause him to seek another. Thousands of men and women who have been legislated out of an inherent privilege—the right to drink—have been driven to use habit-forming drugs.

According to figures of the American Pharmaceutical Association the Cocaine imports from 1898 to 1902 inclusive were valued at $83,214; from 1903 to 1907 inclusive they increased to $1,616,690. And bear this in mind—PROHIBITION has made its greatest strides during the period of this great increase. The present annual consumption of Cocaine in the United States is 200,000 ounces, of which 92% is used illegally. To-day the commerce in Cocaine, Morphine, Heroin and Opium in the United States is greater than in China. And experts tell us that Cocaine produces more criminals than any other single evil.

You cannot raise the standard of morality by legislation.

No statute can possibly become effective unless it has the full indorsement of the people.

The intelligent voters of this great State justly believe in their right to enjoy the privilege of eating and drinking what they choose. Prohibitory statutes will no more change them than they have changed the people of Maine, Kansas and other States where such measures have been enacted.

If you are against Prohibition and believe in the moderate use of alcoholic beverages, tear off the coupon opposite, fill in and mail to the
